

Salvation Army "Donation Exchange"

A brief description for a program from Salvation Army that they describe as a "donation exchange"-- it may be useful for neighbors that SVdP can't assist at the moment or are requesting furniture or household items that aren't in stock at our Thrift Store. The following information is from Jada Smith, Social Services Coordinator with Salvation Army:

"Tracie Ruff is the volunteer who runs the program. You can reach her at 812-459-0409.

We just had many people calling wanting to give away furniture and we had many people calling that needed items, so we have this program to try to help clients get free items. We collect furniture that people want to give away. We ask that the furniture is delivered to our warehouse, but we do pick ups on Tuesday (only as absolutely necessary and if the pickup is worth it).

We then call clients who have requested the items as we get them and arrange for them to pick up. We also drop off (again only if absolutely no other option) but we don't go upstairs and the client must have people to help."
